

SCOTTISH RITE MASONS.

George Flemming Moore Sovereign Grand Commander.

Washington, Oct. 8.—George Flemming Moore, of Montgomery, Ala., was elected sovereign grand commander of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons for the Southern jurisdiction of the United States yesterday by the Supreme Council in session here. Mr. Moore was lieutenant grand commander and was elected to succeed the late sovereign grand commander, James D. Richardson.

Other officers chosen were: Lieutenant grand commander, Chas. E. Rosenbaum, Little Rock, Ark.; grand prior, Charles F. Buck, New Orleans, La.; grand chancellor, Ernest B. Hussey, Seattle, Wash., and grand master of State, Traviano W. Hugo McAlester, Okla.

GIRL CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Caught in Machinery in Her Father's Mill.

Dover, Del., Oct. 8.—Becoming wedged in the main driving shaft of the machinery in the third story of her father's mill, 13-year-old Mary Casson, daughter of Levin D. Casson, was killed yesterday afternoon at Garrison Mills, seven miles from Dover. The back and top of her head were crushed before the engine could be shut off. The clothing had to be cut before her body could be released.

The father and daughter were alone in the mill when the accident occurred. Realizing the perilous condition of his daughter, Mr. Casson went to stop the engine and collapsed upon his return to find his daughter dead.

ELOPERS WIN RACE.

Delaware Couple, Followed by the Girl's Father, Weds in Elkton.

Wilmington, Del., Oct. 8.—A night elopement terminated yesterday at Elkton, Md., in the marriage of Miss Ada M. Burge, aged 18 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Burge, near Hare's Corner, Del., and George D. Ware, son of a farmer near Newark, Del.

On their all-night drive the elopers were followed closely by the father of the bride and Constable James Wright, of New Castle, Del. The ceremony was performed none too soon, for the irate parent and the constable arrived shortly after the knot was tied.

Despite her protests, the bride was separated from her husband and taken home. Ware, however, was told last night to go to the home of his father-in-law and his bride was restored to him.

ZEPPELINS TO RAID BRITAIN.

London Correspondent Says German Papers Indicate as Much.

London, Oct. 8.—In a dispatch from The Hague the correspondent of the Daily Express says German newspapers reaching there indicate that Count Zeppelin is now at Wilhelmshaven, on the North Sea, with his staff. Wilhelmshaven is the point from which the great air raid on the British Isles is expected to start.

One of these papers publishes an interview with the Count, in which he is quoted as saying he had not forgotten England and would prove it very soon.

It is also reported, the correspondent of the Express continues, that Count Zeppelin was summoned recently by Emperor William to Mainz. His Majesty said to the Count that he relied on him for a great work, and offered to make him commander-in-chief of the German air fleet. The Count smilingly refused, but said he would accept the title when he returned from England.

The Zeppelin staffs are working day and night at Wilhelmshaven and a second station is being established at Emden for other types of airships.

BLAMES WAR ON CHURCHES.

Dr. Bell Tells Disciples Lack of Unity Is Responsible.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 8.—A divided church is responsible for the war in Europe, declared Dr. Hill M. Bell of Des Moines, Iowa, president of the International Convention of the Disciples of Christ, which formally was opened here last night, with 11,000 churches in the denomination represented. Pleas for unity among Christian sects and nations and condemnation of the strife across the seas characterized the addresses.

WAR MERELY BEGUN.

Long and Terrific Struggle Prognosticated by Military Expert.

London, Oct. 8.—British military experts declared here today that the human equation must soon enter strongly into the conflict between Germans and allies in France which began as the battle of the Aisne and has now developed into the campaign of seven rivers.

Allowing for the valuable discipline of the German troops and their strong positions, the English military men believe that exhaustion will tell in the end, and that the British and French troops, being fresher and better fed and under less strain than the Germans, will force a general retreat of the invaders.

Suffering from exposure, and some times from lack of food, under constant fire and subject to the nerve-breaking dread of continual attacks, the German soldiers, hardly as they have proved themselves to be, must be ready to break down. On the other hand, Field Marshal Sir John French declares that the morale and physical condition of the allies could not be better.

This is the sixty-fourth day of the war in Europe and the end is not yet in sight. In fact, to sum it all up, it seems that the warring nations, are just beginning to fight in earnest. In the western theater of hostilities the Germans so far have had the advantage in Belgium and have been more than holding their own in France; in the eastern theater the Russians have been successful against Austria, but the conflict between the Germans and Russians, has not been much better than a draw. In the southern theater the Serbians have won some battles, but the situation there is not such as to give Serbia the right to claim that she has won the war against Austria.

In Belgium the Germans are practically masters, and it is believed here that the surrender of Antwerp is only a matter of a short time. The German siege guns are evidently within range of the city proper.

Although the Russian general staff has been ceaseless in its claims of victories over the Germans and Austrians, and German strategy in this theater of war has been warmly criticized the view of impartial observers is that German strategy in the eastern theater of war is equal if not superior to Russian strategy. Man to man, the German soldiers seem to be better fighters than the Russians, although the Muscovites are in a position to put more men in the field than the Germans.

A telegram received in Rome from Berlin says: "The civilians of Lanaeken, Belgium, having attacked German troops, reprisals were necessary. Lanaeken was bombarded and its church destroyed. Along the road between Lanaeken and Tongres all the houses were burned."

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE.

Negro Wanted 13 Years by Virginia Authorities.

Baltimore, Oct. 8.—After a disappearance of 13 years, following his shooting and killing another negro in Virginia, Phony Ivory Johnson, 31 years old, was arrested yesterday afternoon. Johnson had been in Baltimore less than 24 hours, coming from Camden, N. J., Tuesday night.

Johnson at first denied any knowledge of the killing, but within 15 minutes under grilling, he confessed. The shooting occurred Christmas eve, 1901, in Whiteside, Va. In the house of the slain man, Esau Ball, Johnson was then 18 years old. A quarrel started over a game of crap.
